

Hola! The “Tastes of Mexico” in November, 2018 with Explore Worldwide is one of the most fun (and delicious) trips I’ve ever done. Our guide, Vincent Palacios was excellent and not only an expert on food, but well-versed in archaeology. For me, this is a winning combination.

Our itinerary visited Mexico City, Oaxaca, Puebla, San Cristobal de la Casas, Merida and lots of small towns in-between. There was plenty of opportunity to talk with locals, explore around and even shop a bit. Every day had a surprise. I never realized Chiapas in central Mexico has amber mines!

We were 13 participants, all from the UK, except for me and we luxuriated on a 55 passenger bus that even had a bathroom!

Mexico is a riot of color so I’m trying out a photo-essay concept. Mexico is so stunning, picturesque and beautiful and I hope this comes thru in my photographs.

So please enjoy the following photo-essays of wonderful, colorful and yummy Mexico!
